

Digital Learning Day at the Library

Stop by North Lake County Public Library on Thursday, February 23, 2017, from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. to explore the digital services the library offers. Visit individual stations to try out electronic library services such as NoveList, Montana Library2go, BookMyne and Freegal, in addition to the Small Engine Repair, Auto Repair, and Research databases.

Access to several historical research options such as Ancestry.com, HeritageQuest, the Montana Memory Project, and the Montana Newspapers website will be available. In addition, devices such as an iPad, Kindle, etc. will be displayed for visitors to explore.

Library specialist Heather Miles will be present to instruct and answer your questions about technology, electronic devices, and upcoming free classes. The event will take place in the library meeting room at #2 First Ave. E. in Polson. It is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served. Please call 406-883-8225 for more information.
