This message, which was left behind on our kids' computer screen, made our day!

Upcoming Events

at the Library:

Watch for further announcements!

- Adopt-a-Book (see below)
- Digital Learning Day
- Humanities Montana Presentations by Neal Lewing and Mary Jane Bradbury

We're trying something new: a shorter but more frequent newsletter. Watch for it in your inbox or grab a paper copy at the circulation desk.

EXCITING CHANGES FOR THE YOUNG ADULT SECTION

Our Young Adult section received a facelift in recent weeks! Adjacent space that once held the library's magazines is now being used for Young Adult books, making things a little less crowded. Magazines have been moved to the west wall.

Old chairs have been removed and replaced with the colorful stools, pedestal chairs and the table pictured below.

All changes have been appreciated, and we're getting lots of positive responses!

Joshua and his mom hang out on the new pedestal chairs in our Young Adult section.

ADOPT A BOOK!

During February, which is "I Love To Read Month," the library is offering its annual Adopt-a-Book program, an opportunity to "adopt" a children's book and present it to the library's collection.

Community members can purchase a book to honor a special child, friend, relative, or event, or to remember a loved one. Each hardback book is $14.

After a book is purchased, a customized bookplate is inscribed and permanently placed in the front pages. In addition, a special acknowledgement of the sponsored book can be sent to the honoree.

Come down and peruse the beautiful books waiting to be adopted. They're near the circulation desk.

Game Day on Fridays fills our room with kids, fun, noise, and joyfully spilled popcorn!

A beautiful display of books from the 1940s graced our display case in January.

“Libraries are expanding beyond their traditional roles and providing more opportunities for community engagement. They deliver new services that connect closely with patrons’ needs.”

Volunteer Debra Holm works on a digital scanning project here at the library. Preservation efforts are underway for selected old documents related to North Lake County Public Library's history.
